Books for Fall 2015 Courses for Matriculating Students

Texts that provide valuable background for courses (consider borrowing these books from your local library and reading over the summer):

PDFs files of articles and essays that will be used in courses throughout the semester:

Many of these pdf readings can be found in the following text, which would be useful to have on hand but is not required for course purchase:

Texts needed for Fall courses*

*If you order books online via Amazon.co.uk or Amazon.it, you can have them sent directly to your LdM mailbox here in Florence. The shipping address is: Your name, C/O Istituto Lorenzo de’ Medici, via del Melarancio 6/r, 50123 Firenze, Italia

Optional Book Purchase: Dictionary: If you are considering pursuing the post-doctoral track, which includes passing a language competency exam (in these languages: Italian, French, German, Spanish, Latin or a program approved language) then you should come with a good dictionary in this language in order to take the exam. Or if you might be using the language for your thesis research we suggest you purchase a bi-lingual dictionary in the United States as bilingual dictionaries are hard to come by in Florence.
